Access For You – Your Fishing and Hunting License $$ At Work!

Access to over 330 fishing and boat launch sites and 31 Wildlife Management Areas described in this brochure would not be possible without your contribution to these programs through your purchase of hunting and fishing licenses. Your license dollars are used by IDFG to match the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service Federal Assistance program funding - this provides the bulk of the money set aside to acquire, develop and manage places for you to fish and hunt. Hunters and anglers also provide the Federal Assistance funds through a tax on purchases of hunting and fishing equipment. Truly a great example of a "user pays" program!

Anglers seeking Idaho's anadromous

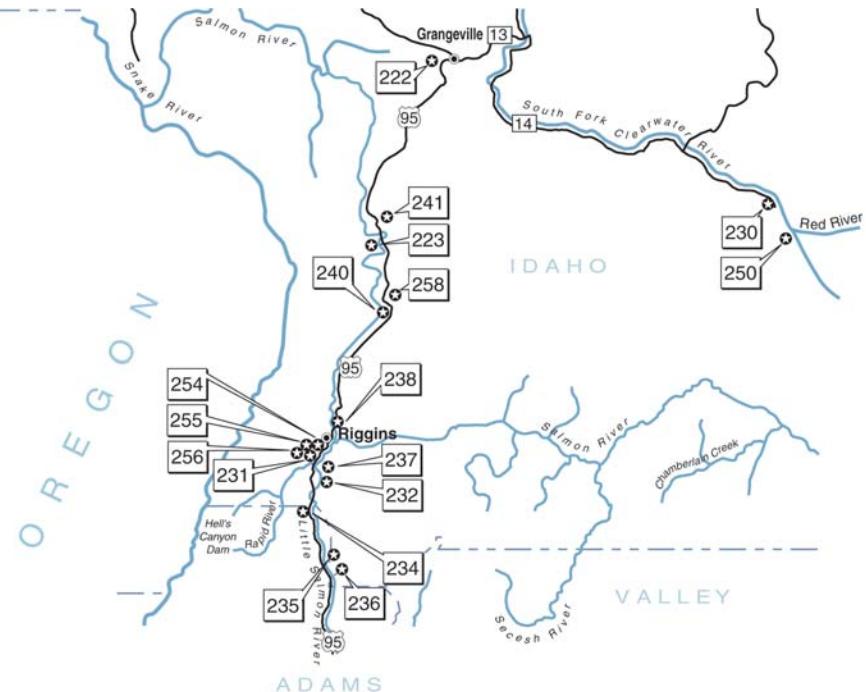

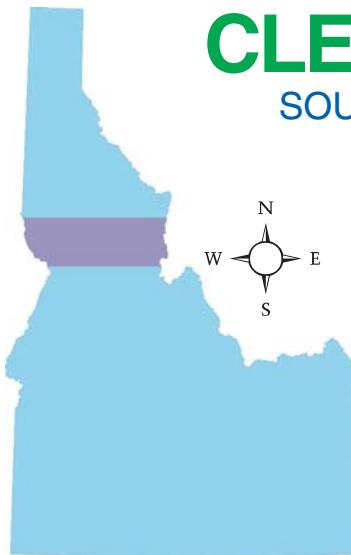

salmon and steelhead must also purchase special permits. Part of the funds generated from these permits go directly to a program to enhance access for fishing for these species. Many of your favorite salmon or steelhead fishing spots on the Salmon or Clearwater rivers were acquired or are managed with these funds.

IDFG also partners with other land management agencies and counties to make sure Idaho anglers and hunters have access to their favorite haunts. For example, in southeastern Idaho, IDFG is part of a region-wide coalition of county governments and other agencies that meet annually to evaluate access needs and prioritize which sites need to be upgraded and improved.

IDFG provides access for hunting and fishing on land acquired as mitigation for lost habitat due to a variety of landscape-altering projects. These sites provide important habitat for impacted species and also access for public enjoyment. Using these funding sources frees up your license dollars to manage other Department lands and access sites.

These are your lands and your access sites. Help us keep them clean. Does your favorite IDFG fishing or hunting spot need improvements? Where do we need additional access? Let us know how we can do a better job of spending your funds and making your fishing or hunting experience better. (<http://fishandgame.idaho.gov>) Enjoy!
